

Gloversville

The Gloversville parish has sold its church property to the Y.M.C.A. of that city. Negotiations for this sale have been proceeding for some time but have only recently been completed. The amount secured for the property was very satisfactory and after paying the mortgage left a very handsome amount which the Gloversville Society has placed in the hands of the State Convention for investment.

While negotiations were proceeding for the sale of the property the Gloversville parish was approached by the Congregationalist Society and invited to use the parish house of the Congregationalist Church until they found themselves a new home or indefinitely if they should so wish.

As soon as the Y.M.C.A. took over the property, therefore, the Society began holding their services in the chapel of the Congregational Church. The arrangement is a most happy one, in as much as our people in Gloversville have never had a morning service, while the Congregationalists have no evening services. Dr. H. B. Taylor of Fort Plain has been preaching for sometime at Gloversville and under the new arrangement will continue to do so until next spring at the least. Congregations have grown since this important move has been made and the interest in the parish seems to be more alive than ever.

Just what the parish will do in the future toward a new home is not known, but for the present they will continue this arrangement which seems very satisfactory to all concerned.

The Empire State Universalist," Cortland NY, January 1928