

[Bauder, Edmund]

Edmund Bauder

Edmund Bauder, trackhand on the New York Central who was killed when struck by a train near Nelliston Wednesday, was a son of the late Jeremiah and Adaline Hall Bauder of Hallsville and had long been a resident of Nelliston, having moved to that village from Hallsville many years ago. He had often worked for the New York Central, but his last tenure was since July.

He is survived by a widow [Helen Hall Bauder]; two sons, John of Nelliston and William of Gloversville; two daughters, Elizabeth of Nelliston and Mrs. Andrew Gaugham of Amsterdam; two brothers, Ervin of Johnstown and Robert of Gloversville, and one sister, Mrs. Caroline Waufle of Van Hornesville; also six grandchildren.

The funeral will be held at 3 o'clock at the house and at 3:30 at the Catherine Nellis Memorial chapel this afternoon. Rev. Dr. [Herbert Frank] Moulton, pastor of the Fort Plain Universalist church officiating.
