

[Blanchard, Eno]

AN AGED MAN'S DEATH

Dr. Eno Blanchard of the town of Boston died last Saturday and was buried on Monday. He was past eighty years of age. The funeral was held at the Universalist church and was attended by a large concourse of friends. He was a member of Livingston lodge of Masons of Colden, and was supervisor for the town of Boston three terms and a resident of the town upwards of fifty years, where he carried on a successful practice of his profession. He was held in high esteem in the locality in which he made his home, and the closing years of his life were passed in quiet comfort. Two sons and two daughters survive him, one son and one daughter living in Rochester, the others in Boston.
