

[Bloodough, Jennie]

Miss J. Bloodough Paid Final Tribute

DOLGEVILLE, N.Y.—The funeral services for Miss Jennie Bloodough, who died suddenly of angina pectoris Saturday morning, were held yesterday at the Universalist church, Rev. C. [Clinton] A. Moulton officiating. Interment was made in the local cemetery. The Rising Sun Rebekah lodge was in charge of the service.

Miss Bloodough, one of the oldest employes [sic] in active service of the Daniel Green Co., of this village, had been at work all day Friday and seemed in the best of health. She became suddenly ill in the early morning hours and Dr. D. M. Griffith was called but she was beyond help. Deceased was a native of the Lamphere district in the town of Salisbury and was born Sept. 27, 1866. She was a member of the Universalist church and of the Rebekah lodge for more than 25 years. She was in the employ of the Daniel Green Co. for more than 36 years.

Her only survivors are a half-brother, Charles of Kansas City, Mo., and an aunt, Mrs. Alice Whyland of this village.

Morning Herald, Gloversville NY, Tue. 11 Oct 1932

Transcribed on 28 Dec 2010 by Karen E. Dau of Rochester, NY