

[Bronner, William]

DEATHS.

In Stark, on the 14th of June, WILLIAM, son of Christian Bronner, aged 12 years. The deceased left his father's house on the morning of the 13th, and in the afternoon was found in the edge of a wood with his feet entangled in the reins of a bridle attached to a colt; he was bruised and mangled in the most shocking manner and died on the day above mentioned. His funeral was attended on the following day in the Otqauga meeting house, and a discourse delivered by the writer to a large and attentive audience of sympathizing friends and relatives, from rom. viii:38-39.
