HAROLD H. CAMP

Harold H. Camp, 52, formerly of Utica, died Oct. 18, 1945 in a hospital in Providence, R.I., after a short illness.

He was in business with his father and brother in Utica for several years, operating the Camp Tire Company at Noyes and Francis Sts.

Mr. Camp was born in Worcester, Mass., July 10, 1893, son of the late George E. and Mary Fuller Camp, and came to Utica at an early age. He married Iva Williams 30 years ago. He was a member of the Universalist Church.

He left Utica to operate a wholesale tire business in Syracuse, which he conducted until five years ago, when he moved to Pawtucket, R.I., where he was chief inspector for the Narragansett Machine Company.

Surviving are his wife; a daughter, Mrs. Arnold G. Vogel, Fayetteville; a son, Lt. Richard W. Camp, Marine Corps; his brother, Kenneth F. Camp, New York City, and a granddaughter, Linda Vogel.

The funeral will be from the Surrige & Roberts Funeral Home, 144 Eagle, at 2 p.m. today. Interment will be in Forest Hill Cemetery.
