

[Clarke, Mary]

Bridgewater Brevities

The widow of the late Jesse Clarke died at the home of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Anna Clarke, Friday evening. Her remains were conveyed to her daughter's, Mrs. George Mills, and the funeral was held from their home Sunday, Rev. D. C. Lamphear, a former pastor of the Universalist church here, officiating. The burial took place in Rural Cemetery at Brookfield, beside her husband. She is survived by five sons, Wheeler, William, George, Otis and Walter, and by one daughter, Mrs. George Mills, also a number of grandchildren and great-grandchildren. Mrs. Clarke was a woman highly appreciated by all who knew her as a good wife, mother and neighbor, and one who did what she could to make the world better and brighter. She has been ill for several months and has been cared for faithfully by her daughter, who will always hold her in loving remembrance.
