

[Davis, Levi]

From Clarendon

Levi Davis, an old pioneer, aged 87 years, a good man of an excellent family, died at the residence of his son-in-law C. [Charles] Caswell, in the southern part of our town, last Sunday morning. The funeral services, conducted by Rev. W. S. Tansom, were held at the Universalist church, on Wednesday at 1 o'clock.

The Holley Standard, Holley NY, Thu. 6 May 1880

From "Historical Sketch of the Clarendon Universalist Church"

The Rev. Charles Hammond followed in 1834. During his pastorate this church was built in 1836-7. My¹ father, Levi Davis, was master builder. He has long since passed over the river. His faith in God's unchanging love, like the walls of this edifice, remained strong to the last.

The Holley Standard, Holley NY, Thu. 17 Jun 1897

Transcribed on 23 Nov 2018 by Karen E. Dau of Rochester, NY

¹ Susannah F. (Davis) Cramer, wife of George D. Cramer