

[Degraw, Marvilla]

CONESUS NEWS

Miss Marvilla Degraw, whose age was 70, passed away at the State hospital in Rochester last week. She was one of the old residents of this town until two years ago, when her health failed and she became an inmate of the hospital. She was a member of the Universalist church of this place, and always attended and was loyal to her church. She was one of those thoroughly good, kind and helpful persons, who was always ready in time of sorrow or sickness to give her best efforts, love and sympathy to all friends and neighbors. She gave her best life to help others, as was her religious belief, and "Ritta," as she was called by her friends, will long be remembered by all who knew her, and many will regret that they could not reciprocate in some way during her last illness.
