

[Dennett, George Austin]

George A. Dennett

George A. Dennett, a bookkeeper employed by the Mount Kisco Country Club and a former resident of Pelham, died yesterday at his home, Orchard Lane, Katonah at the age of sixty.

Born Oct. 14, 1891 in Salem, Mass., son of the late Adelbert and Martha J. Wardwell Dennett, he lived in Katonah for the past three years, previously for ten years in Mount Kisco, and earlier in Pelham.

A graduate of the Boston Business College, he formerly was sales manager for the Helburn Leather Company of New York City, and was a member of the Universalist Church of Salem.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Mary Doyle Dennett; three daughters, Mrs. Patrick McCabe of Lake Purdys, N.Y. and Mrs. Thomas Hughes and Mrs. Hugh Brooks, both of Mount Kisco; a son, George A. Dennett Jr. of the home address, and seven grandchildren.

Daily Argus, Mount Vernon NY, Mon. 18 Aug 1952

Transcribed on 20 Apr 2018 by Karen E. Dau of Rochester, NY