

[Gilman, Emma Alvira Stowel]

DEATHS.

In Green [Greene], on the 16th inst., Mrs. EMMA ALVIRA GILMAN, wife of Mr. Jeremiah Gilman, and youngest daughter of Mr. William Stowel, aged 24 years.

She was a dutiful child, an affectionate wife, a kind parent, and a truly estimable woman. She was known but to be loved. She lived and died a firm and unwavering believer in the final holiness and happiness of the whole human family. For nearly a year had her health been declining, and she viewed and spoke of her approaching and expected exit with a mind calm as the unruffled waters when not a wave flits over their surface. She desired but to live for her friends [i.e. family] and she resignedly fell asleep in Jesus. She has left two small children to feel the loss of one of the best of parents.—May God bless them, and all that are afflicted by this dispensation of his providence. Her funeral was attended on the 18th, in the Presbyterian meeting-house, by a large circle of mourners, friends and neighbors.—Sermon by
