

[Healy, Dorus]

Local News

—Dorus Healy, eighty-three years old, reputed to be worth more than a million dollars, died suddenly last Wednesday night [September 28], at his home, 15 Pearl street. The funeral will be held Sunday afternoon and the body will be taken to South Dansville. Mr. Healy was a former resident of South Dansville and many years ago he went to Michigan and made a vast fortune. He returned here some years ago to make his home with his nieces. In spite of his vast wealth he chose to live modestly, and was known to but few people of the city. All of his immediate relatives are dead and he is survived by two nephews and eight nieces. He was a member of the Universalist church here and of the Dansville lodge of Masons.—Hornell Corr. Elmira Telegram.

Times-Index, Cohocton NY, Wed. 5 Oct 1921

Transcribed on 14 Feb 2015 by Karen E. Dau of Rochester, NY