

[Low, Emma A.]

Mrs. Emma A. Low

CENTRAL SQUARE, Feb. 19. Mrs. Emma A. Low, 87, one of this village's most prominent residents, died Monday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Nellie Wilcox, following a long illness. She had spent most of her life here.

Mrs. Low was the widow of Avery T. Low, owner of Low's Cash Store. Since her husband's death she had retained interest in the store with her son, Henry C. Low.

Active in the early history of Elizabeth Caldwell Chapter 141, Order of Eastern Star, of this village, Mrs. Low was first matron of the chapter. She took the office when the chapter was organized in 1897, and held it four years. She also was first district deputy grand matron of Oswego district, O.E.S. Mrs. Low was an active member of the local Universalist church.

Survivors are her daughter, Mrs. Wilcox, and her son, Henry Low. Funeral services will be held at Mrs. Wilson's home Thursday at 2 p.m. with the Rev. Julia Toby [Tobey], former pastor of the Universalist church, officiating, assisted by the Rev. George H. Campbell, present pastor. Burial will be in Hillside cemetery.
