

[Makepeace, Mary Brintnall]

DEATHS.

In Pamela, on the 22d of April last, widow Mary Makepeace, relict of the late Mr. Eliot Makepeace, and daughter of Mr. Phineas Brintnall, aged 42 years. Industrious, intelligent, social, benevolent and virtuous, Mrs. M. was endeared to a large circle of acquaintances, who seem almost unwilling to believe she is really gone to return no more. During the last ten or twelve years of her life, she was a firmly established, zealous Universalist. She seemed to be always filled with all joy and peace in believing. She was a highly esteemed member of the church in the village of Watertown, and her surviving brethren and sisters will long cherish the remembrance of her faithfulness and her virtues. She endured her last sickness of about two months, not only without a murmur, but with Christian resignation...But such was the nature of her complaint, that she could never speak but a few words at a time, after she was first taken sick. Her faith forsook her not in death, and until her mind became a mere wreck from disease, her answers were prompt and decided. Her aged parents and their family are bowed down with sorrow, and her many friends are deeply affected at her loss. On the 24th ult., a large concourse of acquaintances assembled in the village of Watertown, where her funeral services were performed, and her remains consigned to the tomb.
