

[Middleton, Anne]

Mrs. Anne Middleton

Anne Aitken Middleton, a teacher in the New York City public schools for 34 years, and a trustee of the former Mount Vernon Universalist-Unitarian Church, died yesterday at Mount Vernon Hospital at the age of fifty-eight.

A resident at Hartley House, a settlement house at 413 West 46th Street, New York City, Mrs. Middleton suffered a heart attack Saturday night while visiting friends here. At the time of her death she was principal of P.S. 51 at 520 West 45th Street, New York City.

Recipient of Bachelor and Master of Arts degrees from New York University, she was a candidate for a PhD. degree and was preparing her thesis. She was well known for her interest in gifted children and was a leading advocate of progressive education.
