

[Roberts, George Henry]

The death of George H. Roberts occurred yesterday morning at his residence, 55 Stillson street, at the age of 70 years. Mr. Roberts was one of Rochester's oldest and most respected citizens. He was engaged in several business branches, including the dry goods trade, the sale of agricultural implements, and the insurance business. Of late years he was compelled to give up active business life on account of ill health. He was a prominent Odd Fellow and a worthy and zealous member of the First Universalist Church. Funeral services will be held at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the First Universalist Church.
