

[Shattuck, Sylvia Rebecca]

DEATHS.

In Gainesville, December 10th, 1837, of dropsy on the brain, Miss SYLVIA REBECCA SHATTUCK, in the 20th year of her age. Her funeral was attended, and the sermon from Luke viii: 52, preached by the writer.

The afflicted mother, (now Mrs. Hill,) has been called to mourn previous to this event. Her partner, Mr. Ezra Shattuck, died of consumption, June 3d, 1834, aged 49 years—and her son, Ezra R. Shattuck, died only six days after his father. All these were sustained in their last hours by the hope of universal holiness and bliss—which hope also sustains most of the surviving friends under their heavy afflictions.
