

[Vedder, Madison]

TOWN TOPICS

Madison Vedder, who has been in very poor health for the past year, died at his home in this village yesterday, aged about 75 years. Mr. Vedder moved to this village from Springfield April 1, 1885, and at various times has been a director in the First National bank, the Electric Light company and the Waion Knitting company being president of the latter at the time of its failure, by which he lost his property.

SPRINGFIELD CENTER

The news of the death of Madison Vedder was received with regret here, where he was well-known, having been a resident in this town many years. Friends extend deep sympathy to his bereaved widow [Martha]. The burial was in the family plot in the Springfield cemetery on Saturday last. During their residence here Mr. and Mrs. Vedder was called upon to part with their only child Flora, a lovable young lady of 21 years of age, who passed away in 1883. Soon after this blow fell upon them, they moved to Richfield Springs. In the Universalist Memorial Chapel in this village, Mr. Vedder and his sister Mrs. Hawn, presented the chapel with a beautiful window in memory of their parents, and Mr. and Mrs. Vedder's daughter Flora. They also gave their daughter's handsome organ to the chapel.
