

[Wilson, Daniel T.]

FUNERAL OF D. T. WILSON JR.

The funeral services of Daniel T. Wilson, jr., the son of Daniel T. Wilson, of 164 Rodney street, were held last evening at the home of the parents of the young man and were attended by the members of the family and only immediate friends. The Rev. J. Coleman Adams of All Souls' Universalist Church, officiated at the services. A solo, "Not Ashamed of Jesus," was rendered by Miss Parks. Chopin's "Funeral March" was played by Professors Eisner and Frankeler. The interment will take place at Cypress Hills on Monday.

Brooklyn Daily Eagle, New York NY, Sun. 8 Sep 1901

FUNERAL OF D. T. WILSON JR.

Funeral services were held last night over the body of Daniel T. Wilson, Jr., at the home of his parents, at No. 164 Rodney street, Brooklyn. The Rev. Dr. [John] Coleman Adams, former pastor of All Souls' [Universalist] Church, officiated. The burial will be to-morrow, in Cypress Hills Cemetery. Daniel T. Wilson, Jr., who was nineteen years old, and the son of the president of the Hanover club, died on Wednesday last, at Lake Waramaug, Conn., where he went for his health.

New York Herald, New York NY, Sun. 8 Sep 1901